

COUNTY INCOME TAX RATE SLASHED; MORE SCHEDULES FILED

Collections Show Decrease of Only 20 Per Cent
Over Last Year

DELINQUENTS ARE FEW

Even though the majority of income tax payers profited by the reduction in the rate, which was cut from 1 1/2 to 1/2 per cent, collections of income tax for 1929 during the period that closed Saturday night will show a decrease of but 20 per cent over that of last year, according to Frank Worack, deputy collector of internal revenue. Mr. Worack says he is of the opinion that the amount of the income taxes collected in Lake county will exceed $7,000,000 for the year.

Good Results from Slash
As the result of the slash in the rate, a greater number filed their schedules than ever before and in addition to that many of the taxpayers refrained from taking advantage of the various rules as to exemptions.

The Waukegan office was thronged Saturday from early morning until midnight. The last return filed by a North Chicago man was placed on Worack's desk at 11:59 o'clock. Although they experienced no trouble in handling the reports, Worack and his corps of assistants were forced at times to work at high speed in order to keep the line as small as possible. It was estimated that nearly 100 taxpayers were served at the office between the hours of 8 o'clock and midnight.

Relieving members of the staff of some of their burdens, most of the taxpayers were prone to forego the minor claims for exemptions, many of these filing schedules ignoring such deductions as are allowed for gifts of charity or on certain expenses connected with their businesses or employment.

Mr. Worack is of the opinion that there are few delinquents in the county.

EXPERT TO CONDUCT FRUIT SCHOOL HERE

Announcement was made today that Prof. A. C. Marsh, small fruit specialist of the University of Illinois, will conduct an afternoon session for those who are interested in the growing of strawberries and raspberries on Friday, March 28, beginning at 1:30 p. m. at the Antioch Township High school.

Owing to the unusually good market for small fruits in the Chicago area, the people of this section of the country are more and more drifting into the berry industry. For this reason the agricultural department of the local high school has secured the services of this specialist.

Everyone who is at all interested in this industry should try to be present. The instruction is gratis and a prize of 100 strawberry plants will be awarded to someone present at the school. For further particulars call C. L. Kull, of the high school faculty.

Trevor Market Sells Nearly A Thousand Horses

In six auction sales held by the Wisconsin Horse & Dairy Cattle Sales company at Trevor, Wisconsin, 882 horses have been sold to buyers from all parts of the country, according to Ed S. DeLaney, general manager of the recently organized company.

In proportion to the number of horses offered, more buyers have attended the Trevor auctions than any other market in the United States, the manager asserted. Last week three carloads were sold at private sale and 112 horses were sold at the auction Friday.

Beginning April 1 the company will also sell dairy cattle, private sales being held Wednesday and Thursday.

Mrs. Chas. Basil and son, Ingleside, were Antioch visitors Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Sablin spent Saturday in Waukegan.

Mrs. Elmer Brook returned Saturday after having spent a couple of weeks in Pennsylvania, where she was called by the illness and death of a relative.

ANTIOCH PEOPLE BLOSSOM OUT IN GREEN MARCH 17

Very Little Is Known About
The Early Life of St.
Patrick

PREACHES TO PAGANS

On March seventeenth Antiochians blossomed out in the very greenest things they owned. The Swede thought it "hane" a good day to wear his green tie, the Englishman tucked in his pocket his very greenest handkerchief "by Jove", and the Scotchman brushed up his last year's silk shamrock and pinned it on a conspicuous place on his threadbare coat.

"Why should we wear green in commemoration of St. Patrick any more than have old Santa Claus wear a green suit?" a local resident asked yesterday. Antiochians must know the "why" of everything. The answer to this "why" is because it is a tradition.

Little Known About Early Life

Very little is known about the early life of St. Patrick. Most historians agree that he was born about 392 in Wales. His father was a deacon and St. Patrick was probably a Christian from childhood. When he was still very young, he was taken to Ireland by Irish pirates. Here he remained for six years as a sheep herder. Finally he escaped and returned to his home. He became eager to go back to Ireland as a messenger of the Christian faith. In 432 Pope Celestine sent St. Patrick to convert the Irish to Christianity. According to tradition he landed near Wicklow. The people were preparing to stone him, but St. Patrick preached fearlessly to these pagan Irish and soon they were glad to listen to him. He illustrated the doctrine of the Trinity by showing them a trefoil, a three-leaved grass like the clover, which was very green. The Irish were much impressed and were soon baptized by St. Patrick.

It is because of this trefoil tradition that the Irish and later the people of many nations wear the green on St. Patrick's Day.

Therefore in spite of the fact that Santa Claus wears a red suit, Antiochians got out their green on Monday.

Prin. W. C. Petty Will Address Lake Forest College Student Body

Enthusiasm over the address he delivered to members of the Kiwanis club last week, school authorities of Lake Forest college have asked Prin. W. C. Petty to appear before the student body of that institution tomorrow. Following the chapel exercises, which will begin at 12 o'clock, Mr. Petty has been invited to attend a luncheon to be held at the student commons. With requests coming in every day, the principal finds it rather difficult to conveniently arrange his program of events.

Wetzel Chevrolet Lands Big Contract For Six-wheel Trucks

What is thought to be the largest single order for cars ever placed in Antioch was received here Monday by L. M. Wetzel, owner of the Wetzel Chevrolet Sales, who secured a signed contract from the Union Transit company of Chicago for the delivery of 25 six-wheel Chevrolet trucks.

Trucks of this kind sell for $1,625, and the order by the Chicago firm represents an investment of $40,625. The truck bodies will be of special design, 12 feet long, 7 ft. wide and 6 feet high, and will be painted maroon color.

The Union Transit company has been trying out all makes of trucks during the last six months, finally deciding on the Chevrolet as the one best suited to their needs. The trucks are built to carry a five-ton load.

Moderate original cost, low maintenance, and the quality built into these trucks were the factors which influenced officials of the Union Transit company to make Chevrolet their choice, according to those who signed the big order.

Fire Department Buys New Tires

Prompted by a desire to practice "Safety First", members of the Antioch Fire department recently purchased four puncture-proof tires and tubes at a cost of over $225, according to a report read at the last regular meeting of that organization.

One of the interesting features of the assembly was a demonstration on the inhalator, given by R. S. Stegman, of the Mine Safety Appliances company, Chicago. This mechanism is a life saving device which is now being used by departments throughout the country. John Doyle, a former lieutenant of the Chicago department, who was a visitor at the meeting, is planning on becoming a member of the local organization.

Mrs. William O'Malley, Freeport, arrived in Antioch yesterday for a brief visit in the home of her sister, Mrs. L. M. Wetzel.

HINT OF SPRING SPURS ANTIOCH FLORIST TO ACT

S. E. Pollock is going to burst into print today all because he's got the spring fever. Captivated by last week's palmy days, Mr. Pollock had to find an outlet for his ultra enthusiasm and so he got out his hoe, packages of seed, and all other necessary accessories and planted part of his garden. A smile flickered across his face when he was asked when he did the deed, but nevertheless it was obvious that he had convictions deep under that cloak of comedy. Last year it was not until the fourth of April that he saw fit to make the daring adventure. No doubt Mr. Pollock will be munching on onions and radishes and what have you before the rest of the townsmen have given garden planting a thought.

STATE READY TO RECEIVE BIDS ON LAKE VILLA GRADE

Ingleside-Volo Paving Also
Up for Bids April
Eleventh

Among the 1930 road projects on which first bids will be received by the state highway department on April 11 are the grading of the Lake Villa pavement gap on Route 21 at Soe line tracks; and the paving of the Ingleside-Volo stretch of 4.73 miles, linking Grand avenue with Route 20 (Bolydere road), according to announcement made yesterday by Director H. H. Cleveland of the Department of Public Works and Buildings and Chief Highway Engineer Frank T. Sheets.

Within 30 days, they said, Illinois will start its 1930 road construction program with a goal of 750 miles of new pavement before the end of the season. Between $26,000,000 and $30,000,000 will be spent for the new roads.

On April 11th the State will hold its first road letting of the 1930 season. It will receive bids for the paving of 140 miles of road, 26 miles of heavy grading, and the construction of numerous large bridges. The estimated cost of this first series of projects is approximately $5,000,000. Other road lettings will follow just as rapidly as the necessary rights of way are obtained.

LAKE COUNTY PURE MILK ASSOCIATION TO OUST DISSENTERS

Farmers Must Consume
Their Own Products,
Members Declare

Culminating a campaign of several months, during which the leaders of the Lake County Pure Milk association and experts from other parts of the country assured farmers that the only channel in which lay improvement of their present economic status was consumption of their own dairy products, the organization declared open war on each of its members who engages in the practice of using butter substitutes on his own table, according to a resolution passed at a meeting of the milk enthusiasts held at Gurnee Tuesday night. It was the consensus of opinion among the hundred present that such a dissenter would be ousted from the ranks of the association and that his products would not be sold through its agency.

Emphasizing the fact that the stand taken by the group was feasible, Roy Davis, of the Pure Milk association, attributed the rise in the price of butter from 33 cents to 40 cents a pound within ten days almost solely to the farmers' use of their own milk surplus.

Announcement was made Tuesday night that the organization is putting forth every effort possible to produce the best milk in the Chicago area during the next few weeks. It is expected that the goal will be reached, since Thomas Champney, advisor from the Chicago association, has been secured to assist members in their endeavors to accomplish the prescribed results.

PIRATES WIN OVER MINERS AT STADIUM

Another victory was annexed to the Wilmet Pirates' long string of wins Wednesday night of last week when the Wisconsin cagers took the measure of the South Wilmington Coal Miners, 27 to 23, at the Chicago stadium. Frank and Norman Richter were the leading point getters for the Pirates.

Miss Lucille Hanku returned home Saturday after spending a week with friends in Chicago and Oak Park.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Hahn, Chicago, spent the week-end at the T. A. Somerville home.

Mrs. John C. Nixon and Ruth spent Saturday and Sunday with relatives in Chicago.

Antioch Youths All Astir Learning the Technic of the Game

Some prefer green, while others have a liking for red, blue, yellow, or what have you! Antioch streets, schools, and homes are all aglow with an overhanging kaleidoscope of movement and color.

Before 8 o'clock and after 4 o'clock shiks and shobas galore may be seen sauntering up and down Main street, wrists wiggling, arms swinging—what doing? Learning the technic of the yo-yo game!

Some of the fad enthusiasts wind up the string with swift, blood racing in their veins, while others go about it a wee bit treacherous and a trifle shy; still others who haven't the price stand on the sidelines with hearts burning with jealous rage and watch their fellow schoolmates with envy and exasperation. What will be the subject of the next chapter Antioch youths will write in the Book of Fads?

SMART TRAINS FOR BOUT WITH DUPRE

Antioch Contractor Injured—Fight Postponed to Friday, April 25

With the possibility of eventually wearing the heavyweight title crown of Lake county, Bob Smart, contender for that honor, who is slated to hook up with Vincent Dupre in the first of the elimination bouts at the Antioch Palace, has taken unto himself a trainer and has turned his attention to the business of training in earnest for his bout with the husky Antioch contractor.

Einar Sorenson, well known Channel lake resident, who has had considerable experience as a pugilist, is the man who will be responsible for his protégé's condition when the curtain rises on the big fight. Smart is said to be doing road work daily, punching the bag and roughing up a number of sparring partners each evening.

Additional glamor is lent to the contest through the report that Tuffy Griffith, one of the leading contenders for the heavyweight championship of the world, will be in Smart's corner during the fight.

By the way, fight fans around here are going to enjoy an additional three weeks of pleasant anticipation, according to announcement today, that the fight has been postponed for three weeks from April 4, the date first set for the bout. This move the big show up to April 25. The change in date was made necessary when Dupre sustained an injury to his ribs while doing some carpenter work this week.

So the fans will have to wait in patience, while Promoter Macke smiles at the match which is fast growing in popularity and which bids fair to be the main box office attraction at the Palace this season.

Several Fiction Books Are Given to Library

The local library has received an interesting addition to its fiction section. Mrs. Mildred Peaceck, of Lake Villa, and Miss Othella Dressel, of Lake Marle, are the donors of the most of the books. The collection includes the standard reading of some years ago as well as that of more recent date. "All Quiet on the Northern Front" by Remarque and "Moby Dick" by Melville have been purchased by the library.

City Briefs

Mrs. Sanford Clark has leased the Naber building on Main street where she intends to open a restaurant the first of April. Alterations in the front of the building, and fixtures are now being made.

A. J. Feltor is recovering from an attack of pneumonia. Mr. Feltor is the only remaining Civil War veteran in Antioch.

The local fire department was called to the Van Patten barber shop this afternoon to extinguish a fire which started from a kerosene heater. No damage was done.

Mrs. Wm. Schroeder, of Chicago, spent two days this week in the home of her mother, Mrs. D. A. Williams, Main street.

TOLL OF FLAMES AT PACKING PLANT IS OVER $10,000

Antioch Firemen Subdue Fire After Two-Hour Battle

SMOKE PROVES HANDICAP

Flames that resulted in damage of more than $10,000 and threatened to destroy the entire plant of the Antioch Packing Company on North Main street, were subdued by Antioch firemen yesterday after a gallant two-hour fight.

The fire is thought to have originated around the chimney where smoke was seen issuing from the building at 12:30 o'clock. A bursted hose caused some delay when the first connection was made, but with this defect corrected the firemen soon had two streams directed upon the flames. After several firemen were almost overcome by smoke, attempt to enter the building was abandoned and holes were chopped through walls and roof and the fire was prevented from spreading to the storage and cooling rooms on the first floor and in the basement.

None of the stock in the cold storage rooms was damaged, but the office fixtures and the entire front of the building were so badly damaged that it is thought the latter will have to be rebuilt.

Small Insurance
There was only $5,000 insurance on the building, according to Joseph Petrovsky, owner and manager, who acquired the property and the business from C. J. Itoschola six years ago. During the last few years many additions and improvements have been made on the property. The packing house had been repainted just a few weeks ago.

BLUFF LAKE COTTAGE DESTROYED BY FIRE

Flames Believed to Be of Incendary Origin; Deputy Fire Marshal Here

Fire, believed to be of incendiary origin, completely destroyed a summer cottage on the north shore of Bluff lake early Saturday morning. The cottage, furnishings and clothing left there by summer occupants were a total ruin. The loss is estimated at $2,000.

The cottage was owned by Mrs. John Nixon of Antioch. Residents in the vicinity of the cottage told police and members of the Antioch fire department that Friday afternoon they saw a party of people, some of whom were recognized, making an inspection of the cottage, which at this season is unoccupied.

Following the fire, Mrs. Nixon exhibited an anonymous letter threatening dire consequences to the Nixons should they establish a tourist camp on their property at Bluff lake. This and other strange circumstances surrounding the fire prompted the local fire department to re-survey the matter to the state fire marshal's office. A deputy from the state office was in Antioch yesterday viewing the scene of the fire and questioning Acting Chief Richard Allier.

First Service In New St. Peter's Church Yesterday

Father Frawley announces that everything was in readiness for conducting the first service in the new St. Peter's church yesterday. After this date, all services will take place in the new church.

The formal dedication of the new place of worship will take place some time in August when His Eminence, Cardinal Mundelein, will come to Antioch to dedicate it.

Father Frawley extends a hearty welcome to all of the residents of Antioch to come to any of the religious services and to inspect the new church and auditorium whenever they wish.

R. M. Haynes is convalescing after a siege of typhoid fever.

HintsBaked Beans Give New Value and Variety
To Foods

The time-honored New England custom of serving Baked Beans with Boston Baked Bread and Pickles every Saturday night is spreading in popularity. And this is an excellent time to call attention to the many other attractive ways of serving nutritious food. Baked Bean cutlets are both economical and delicious, while any family would vote steaming bowls of Baked Bean soup or a piping hot Baked Bean rabbit a special treat on a wet, cold night.

Recent experiments in one of our large universities show that Baked Beans are a rich source of copper, a little known but very valuable food constituent. Beans long have been known as a particularly excellent source of iron, and this recent discovery that they contain copper on a par with iron, adds to their value. It is now known that an even larger share of our attention, for the iron in foods functions more efficiently when accompanied by copper.

No doubt the following recipes will suggest many other welcome ways to include this splendid food in your menus for the family:

Browned Chops with Oven
Baked Beans

4 pork chops, 1 can Oven Baked Beans (Vegetarian style), 1 teaspoon sugar, 1/2 cup Tomato Ketchup.

Fry pork chops until nicely browned. Pour over them 1 can Oven Baked Beans, add sugar and ketchup, and mix lightly. Bake in moderate oven about 20 minutes.

Baked Sausages with Oven
Baked Kidney Beans

Brown sausages in a skillet. Pour over them 1 can Oven Baked Kidney Beans, and bake in a slow oven for about 1/2 hour. Place the beans in the center of a hot platter, surround with the sausages, and garnish with sprigs of parsley.

Baked Bean Cutlets

2 cups of Oven Baked Beans, 1 cup bread crumbs, 2 eggs, 2 tablespoons butter, salt, pepper, Worcestershire sauce, Onion Juice to taste.

Mash finely 2 cups of bread crumbs, two slightly beaten eggs, and two tablespoons melted butter. Add salt, pepper, Worcestershire sauce and onion juice to season. Shape into cutlets, dip in crumbs, beaten eggs, and crumbs again. Brown in the skillet with three tablespoons fat. Serve with tomato sauce. (Tomato Soup heated and thickened with a small amount of flour makes a good sauce.)

Baked Bean Soup

2 to 3 cups Oven Baked Beans mashed, 1 1/2 quart cold water, 1 ham bone, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 1 stalk celery minced, 1 onion minced, 1 tablespoon butter or fat.

Brown the minced onion in fat, and add to the mashed beans with all other ingredients. Bring slowly to a boil, simmer for 1 hour. Put through colander and serve. This recipe serves six persons.

Baked Bean Rabbit

To two cups of scalded milk, add 1 medium can Oven Baked Beans, Boston Style, which have been mashed finely and blended with 2 rounding tablespoons flour. Cook until thickened, add 1/2 cup finely chopped American cheese, and stir constantly over a slow fire until cheese is melted. Cook for several minutes. Season with salt and pepper and Worcestershire Sauce. Serve on slices of buttered toast. This is an unusual and delightful supper or luncheon dish.

Sally Ann's

—at her home

It was little Sally Ann's birthday; it came on the seventeenth of March, which, as all you children know, was St. Patrick's day.

Little Sally Ann felt very proud to have her birthday come on the same day as St. Patrick's day, and so she begged her mamma to let her do something to celebrate the two occasions, and she invited her little friends, twenty-five in all, to spend Monday afternoon with her. At three o'clock the children began to come.

Sally Ann's little brother, Fred, met the guests at the door; he wore a little green suit made just like the one St. Patrick used to wear.

The hall and stairway were trimmed with green shamrocks and hats and when the children reached the living room they were much pleased and surprised to be greeted by Sally Ann's mother, her aunt Annie, and Sally Ann herself dressed like the ladies of St. Patrick's time.

Sally Ann's mamma and her aunt Annie talked to the boys and girls about old St. Patrick. Her Aunt Annie played and sang songs, some Irish songs and very soon it was time for the early tea, and the children marched out to the dining room, two by two, keeping time to the music.

Here, the greatest surprise of all awaited them. In the center of the prettily decorated table stood a pretty green cake made in the form of a shamrock. The boys and girls exclaimed with surprise. At each child's place there was a tiny shamrock to pin on their dresses.

And oh, they had so many good things to eat! There were stacks of bread tied with pretty green ribbons at each plate; plenty of candy for all; a salad trimmed with beads cut all in fancy shapes; some St. Patrick pies of course; and some crisp cookies cut in perfect shamrock shapes.

St. Patrick's health was drunk many times by the children in water, milk, and cocoa.

After supper, the children went again to the living room and spent a short time playing games.

The only thing wrong with the rising generation is the difficulty each morning in getting them to rise.

Seasonings That Put
Snap Into Spring
Dishes

When the usual round of steaks, chops and roasts becomes monotonous, the busy housewife must find new meat dishes to serve to her hungry family. But the wise cook knows she does not need to buy the more expensive meats, when she can make the cheaper cuts attractive by skillful use of piquant meat sauces, Tomato Ketchup, Prepared Mustard, or a bit of onion.

And hungry husband would be enthusiastic about Porcupine Meat Balls or Stuffed Ham Roll—and you will be, too, when you find how easily they are made!

Here are some out-of-the-ordinary meat recipes that will put new snap into appetites. Jaded by a monotonous round of winter menus:

Stuffed Ham Roll

1 slice ham, about 1/2 inch thick, 1 cup bread crumbs, few grains of pepper, 1/2 teaspoon prepared mustard, 1 tablespoon chopped onion, 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 medium size can Cream of Tomato soup.

Soak ham in water if salty. Make dressing of crumbs, seasoning enough to moisten. Cover slice of ham with dressing, roll up like jelly roll and tie firmly. Put in roasting pan or casserole, cover with 1 medium size can Tomato soup. Surround with 1 cup parboiled carrots, cook until carrots and meat are tender.

Porcupine Beef Balls

1 pound ground steak, 1/2 cup uncooked rice, 1 medium size can Cream of Tomato soup.

Mix rice and meat, form into balls, place in casserole, cover with soup. Bake in oven about 1 1/2 hours.

Creole Pork

1 small can Cream of Tomato soup, 1 small can Cooked Spaghetti, 1 pound ground raw pork, 2 onions, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 pound grated cheese, 1/2 cup grated crumbs, 1 tablespoon butter.

Chop onions finely and cook with ground pork until brown (in additional fat). Drain off excess fat. Mix pork, spaghetti, Cream of Tomato soup, grated cheese and salt. Turn into baking dish or casserole, cover with crumbs and butter. Bake in moderate oven.

Corn Beef Hash

6 medium size potatoes, 1 can corn beef, 2 green peppers, 2 small onions, 1 clove of garlic, 1 small can Cream of Tomato Soup, 1/2 cup water, 1-2 teaspoon paprika.

Chop all the ingredients quite fine. Place in a skillet and cover with soup and water. Cook with cover on until vegetables are tender stirring often to keep from sticking to pan. Place in loaf pan or casserole and brown on top for about 25 minutes. Serve with hot rolls and Sweet Gherkins.

Hints For Homemakers
By Jane Rogers

BAKED potatoes will be much more neatly if, before being put in the oven to bake, they are allowed to stand for about twenty minutes in hot water.

A relish adds greatly to the appetite appeal of cold meats. A delicious relish can be quickly made by mincing one cup of cold cooked beefs and adding three tablespoons freshly grated horseradish, root, two teaspoons powdered sugar, one teaspoon salt, and two tablespoons lemon juice.

Complete sets of glass tableware—in rose, azure, topaz, amber or green—are rapidly coming into vogue.

COVERS LAID FOR 80 AT MOTHER-DAUGHTER FETE

Covers were laid for about 80 guests at the Mother-Daughter banquet which was held at the beautifully decorated high school cafeteria Friday night. In her salutatory address, Beatrice Hawkins gave a hearty welcome to old alumni members and expressed hope that all mothers and daughters would cooperate in an effort to make this event an annual one. Amelia Illadovec, who was second to appear on the program, gave a lengthy resume of the activities and accomplishments of the organization during the last four years. After a violin solo had been rendered by Clara Christensen, Esthor Anderson, and Margaret Galiger, "Wholesome Living" was discussed by Miss Alice Smith, of the high school faculty, who built her talk around the value accruing from having worthwhile books in the home. She said that at the present time there was an appalling lack of good reading matter in the average American home. As a source of help to both the mothers and daughters, Miss Smith gave several suggestive hints as to the best books which are on the market today. The present day methods of teaching home economics versus those of yesterday was the theme of Mrs. Ruby Hiehey's talk on "New Trends in Home Economic Education". Concluding the program of events, a short play was presented by several members of the Antioch Township High School Home Economics club, which fostered this banquet. Between courses old time songs were sung. The ag boys served.

There were 118 in Sunday school last Sunday. Our goal is 150 by Easter. We can do it with your help.
We have five Sundays until Easter.
With a steady gain each Sunday, we should easily reach our goal.

We are now in Lent and these are the richest weeks of our church year.

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY PARTY BRILLIANT AFFAIR

One of the most brilliant of this year's local social functions was the American Legion Auxiliary's card party and dance, which was held at the Guild hall Monday night. The high scorers in 500 were Mmes. E.
Jarnigo, Alonzo Runyard, Arthur
Simpson, and Walter Hills, and Frank Powles, Chris Laursen, John
Ross, and Fred Dorrance; in Bridge,
Miss Louise Simons, and Mmes. Jas.
Dunn and Richard Allner, and Vincent Dupre, Lester Nelson, and Lester Osmond; and in Bunco, Mmes. W.

committee in our parish should rise to the challenge of Lent. Big things may be had if we expect them and work for them; it is expected of us all that we turn away from every non-church activity possible until Easter, which we may be free to receive that which we need and give that which we should. Above all things let us be sure to attend the services of the church faithfully and thoughtfully.
Let us have every member attend church every Sunday until Easter.

Among the activities of this week are: Meeting of the official board on Monday evening at the parsonage.
The Thimble Bee society met with Mrs. J. C. James Wednesday afternoon. Wednesday evening was church night with supper at 6:30 and the regular program following. The boy scouts of Troop 81 will meet tonight. On Friday evening at the church at 8:00 o'clock Miss Smith's Sunday school class is having a party.
All members are urged to be present.
Since several have expressed their desire to attend the opening service at the new Catholic church on next Sunday morning, which occurs at the hour of our worship, it was voted to dispense with our service on Sunday morning so that we all could attend the service at the new Catholic church. The Sunday school will meet as usual at 9:30.

Our Epworth League has accepted an invitation to visit the Epworth League at Waukegan next Sunday evening. Because of this, there will be no evening service. All Leaguers who are going to Waukegan should be at the church no later than 4:30.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Substance" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday,
March 16.

The Golden Text was, "My God shall supply all your need according to his riches in glory by Christ
Jesus" (Phil. 4:19).
Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "I love them that love me; and those that seek me early shall find me. Riches and honour are with me; yea, durable riches and righteousness. My fruit is better than gold, yea, than fine gold; and my revenue than choicest silver" (Proverbs 8:17-19).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook,
"Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy:
"Substance is that which is eternal and incapable of discord and decay.
... Spirit, the synonym of Mind,
Soul, or God, is the only real substance" (p. 408).

KING'S DRUG STORE

Jackson Endorsed By Illinois Farm Body For Support

Hon. N. L. Jackson,
Belvidere, Illinois,
Dear Mr. Jackson:

We are greatly pleased to inform you that careful checking of the official records of the last General Assembly shows you to have given 100 per cent support to controversial measures initiated and supported by the Illinois Agricultural Association.

We are preparing for our official publication a rather complete report of the activities of the 16th General Assembly on matters of major interest to agriculture. We are desirous of including in this report a picture of all those with 100 per cent voting records and would appreciate receiving either a picture or cut of yourself to be used for this purpose.

I also want to take this occasion to express the appreciation of the farm people of Illinois for this effective service you have rendered Illinois agriculture in your official capacity.

We shall look forward to your response to the above request at an early date.

With personal regards, I am
(Signed) EARL C. SMITH,
President Illinois Agricultural Association.

FISTIC TREAT ON PALACE CARD FOR FRIDAY NIGHT

John Hughes and R. Davis
In Windup—Six Good
Preliminaries

With each succeeding week the amateur boxing bouts at the Antioch Palace get better and better. The cream of amateur talent is being shown in the Palace arena each Friday night. Fans, appreciative of the fact that they are seeing the best are attending in greater numbers and the popularity of the Palace attracts the best amateurs who want to go up in the boxing game.

Another fistic treat is in store for the cash customers at the local show tomorrow night when John Hughes, the Terror of Kenosha, meets Ray Davis, the Hello Plaine flash, in the windup attraction, which will be supported by an all-star card of six preliminaries.

Kratochvil in Semi-Windup

When Ernie Kratochvil clashes with Al Eschee, a fast boy from Central North Town A. C., fans may expect to see a scrap equal to the windup in entertainment. With only one end of a fight the fracas is going to be something worth watching. Eschee is a new comer to the Palace.

Then there is Buddy Meyers, well known to Palace fans, who takes on D. Lichter, Belle Plaine, in the fifth preliminary.

Bob Brown, Libertyville, will have as his opponent in the fourth bout, Paul Searling, Loftus A. C., and Paul Liberty, Kenosha, meets John Taylor, Waukegan, in the third preliminary.

George Taylor, Waukegan, and Earl Watson, Coulton, are principals in the second bout.

Malvin Brenton, Burlington, and E. Heinrich, Kenosha, are scheduled for the opening bout. These two clever 160 pounders ought to start the show off with a bang.

Friday's Fight Results Windup

Ernie Conway, Davenport, won decisively over John Bresman, Chicago, in three rounds. During the closing rounds Bresman spent most of his time on the canvas. A terrific right from Conway floored him in the second session and from that moment Bresman was not in the running.

Semi-Windup

Howard Craft took a terrific beating from Ray Davis, Chicago, but the Grayslake boy was on his feet at the close of the third heat. Craft won the opener but the last two were decisively Davis'.

Preliminaries

Paul Searling, Chicago, won over George Jones, High Jinks club, in three rounds. Jones was floored twice for counts of nine in the last round. This was one of the best bouts of the evening.

Lyle Drake, Waukegan, Wis., was given the verdict over Jimmy Simmons, Kenosha, after four rounds of fairly even milling.

Don Merrillman, Waukegan, shaded Ken Murray, Chicago, in three rounds.

Joe Conway, Davenport, Ia., scored a three round triumph over Joe Saplenza, Waukegan, in the curtain raiser.

Arthur Simpson returned home yesterday after spending several days in Canada.

RUPTURE

EXPERT AT RACINE

H. M. SHEVYAN—F. H. SEELEY CO'S EXPERT of Chicago and Philadelphia will be at the Racine Hotel, Racine, Monday only, March, from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Mr. Seeley says: "The Spromatic Shield will not only retain any case of rupture perfectly, but contracts the opening in 10 days on the average case. Being a vast advancement over all former methods—exemplifying instantaneous effects immediately appreciable and withstanding any strain of position no matter the size or location. Large or difficult cases, or incisional ruptures (following operations) specially solicited. This instrument received the only award in England and in Spain, producing results without surgery, injections, medical treatments or prescriptions, with disengaged, personal patrons of all nations." "His method has always been most satisfactory."—Late Dr. Edward Shippen, former Medical Director, U. S. Navy.

"If you want done what the rest cannot do—See Seeley."

Mr. Shevyan will be glad to demonstrate without charge or sit them if desired. Business demands prevents stopping at any other place in this section.

LAKE COUNTY Farm Bureau NEWS NOTES

Full Time Four H
Club Leader Hired

The Lake and McHenry County Farm Bureaus have secured the assistance of A. Herman, Antioch, for 4-H Club work in the two counties. He will have charge of the club work until after the Aurora Fair, under the direction of E. M. Phillips, McHenry County Farm Adviser, and H. C. Gilkerson, Lake County Farm Adviser, spending half time in each county. Mr. Herman comes to take charge of this work well qualified. The University of Illinois has heartily approved him. He graduated from the University of Illinois in 1929, was in Four-H Club Work in Lake county for three years, and attended the Four-H Club camp at the State Fair. Club work is increasing by leaps and bounds this year. Last year we had a total of sixteen dairy calves, and to date we have thirty-seven calves purchased and more boys wanting calves. We have fourteen sewing clubs so far, while last year we had only three.

The projects which will be open for the boys and girls between the ages of ten and twenty in Lake county will be, Dairy Calf, Sheep, Pig, Poultry, Garden, Corn, and Sewing. If you have a boy or girl interested in club work, send the information in at once to the Lake County Farm Bureau and Mr. Herman will get in touch with you.

We are anxious to secure club leaders. If you are willing to take a club, let us know and we will be glad to talk it over with you. We are not asking you to take a club to help the Farm Adviser or the assistant, or the Farm Bureau, but to take this club that you may help the boys and girls in your community.

Somers Points Out The Values of Phosphate

At a meeting of Truck Growers, last week, Professor Lee Somers of the University of Illinois, pointed out that phosphate was the needed element in producing most crops, because it hastens maturity and improves the quality.

At the experiment field at Des Plaines, Illinois, on sweet corn, where a uniform amount of phosphate was applied and the nitrogen and potash were varied; the yield remained practically the same, where nitrogen and potash remained stationary and the phosphate was increased; and the sweet corn yield increased in proportion to the amount of phosphate applied up to reasonable limits.

Some form of phosphate on your corn will help produce more sound corn and shorten the season.

TAXES

I will be at the State Bank of Antioch where you may pay your taxes until March 31st.

WILMOT GYMNASIUM WILL BE SCENE OF HOME TALENT PLAY

High School Students Are Entertained By North Dakota Indian

The Third Floor Front, a comedy in three acts, will be presented by the Wilmot P. T. A. on Friday and Saturday nights, March 23 and 25, at the Wilmot gym. The curtain will rise promptly at 8:15. Nancy Wilks is in love with Jack Gordon who occupies the third floor front. Mrs. Wilks, who runs the boarding house and Mr. Wilks have no use for Jack. Nancy is forbidden to speak to him, but they meet late one night and Jack gives her a string of pearls for a birthday present. Mrs. Wilks notices Nancy's pearls and Jack is declared a crook because a pearl necklace has just been stolen from Celia Langdon, a society girl. The necklace, however, is not Miss Langdon's and Jack turns out to be the son of the wealthiest people in town, the Wallaces. They do not desire Nancy for a daughter-in-law and it seems as if the young people would be separated again. When Mr. Wilks takes charge. He brings order out of chaos. Jack and Nancy are reunited and the Wallaces give the young couple their blessing. The cast of characters is as follows: Abigail Winchester Wilks, mistress of the boarding house—Miss Olive Hope; Tobias Wilks, her husband, a retired actor; Walter Klein; Nancy Virginia Wilks, their daughter—Ruth Thomas; Jack Gordon. "The Third Floor Front"—Arthur Bloss; Lizzie, a maid of all work—Mrs. Harry McDougal; Augusta Wallace, a wealthy politician—William Fiegel; Helen Wallace, his wife—Rhoda Jedele; Celia Langdon, whose picture frequently graces the society page—Lila Bernhoff; J. S. J. Hopkins, who is a little hard of hearing—John Sutcliffe; Cora Hopkins, his daughter, a sentimental splinter—Mrs. A. J. Kraemer; J. S. Wallington Blair, a widow who has seen better days—Mrs. Guy Lohr; Robert Simms, a reporter—William Leske.

The high school was entertaining for an hour Monday morning by a full-blooded Indian, Grey Earth of the Sioux tribe from North Dakota. Grey Earth spoke about Indian traditions, costumes, and religious rites and dosed a very interesting program with the singing of several Indian love songs in the Indian language and as rewritten and interpreted for the English language. The program was given under the auspices of the local Hi-Y club.

The high school basketball team played at Clinton Monday evening in the closing game for the season.

The P. T. A., which gave the last of a series of card parties last Thursday night, wishes to thank the public for the record attendance and all those who worked to make the affairs successful. Glen Pacey received the door prize, a car spot light, donated by the Richter garage at Twin Lakes.

The Wilmot Pirates closed a busy season with five games on their schedule. Last Tuesday night won over the Waterford team on the home floor with a score of 46-21. Wednesday the team, accompanied by a gallery of a hundred rooters, traveled to Chicago to play the preliminary game at the Bruin-Brooklyn tilt at the Chicago stadium. Here the boys were again successful and the Wilmington Coal Miners from Wilmington, Ill., went down to defeat 27-23. Shubert Frank easily started in this game with six baskets and a free throw. Norman Richter had three baskets and two free throws. Richards two and Geo. Richter one. Every man in the Pirate lineup played during the game.

Thursday night the Pirates played their first game in the Lake Geneva Y. M. C. A. tournament and defeated the Delavan De Molays 56-18. Lyle McDougal copped eight baskets and four free throws for the Pirates. Lohr and Richter also had heavy records in the scoring list.

Friday night the Pirates sent the Williams Bay team down to defeat by a 31-13 score in their second game of the tourney. Red Richards led in the scoring with five baskets, George Richter and Frank each had four field goals. Shubert Frank was definitely out of the tourney after this game, as he sprained an ankle very badly in the last three minutes of play.

The Pirates reported at Geneva for their last game of the tournament and for the season on Saturday night. They were matched with Genoa but withdrew in the middle of the third quarter, with a score of 11-10 after leading throughout the game. The trophy for the tournament was not awarded and the boys report it the worst case of poor officiating encountered. This is but the third game in the history of the organization of the boys who have played for three years that they considered the circumstances such that a withdrawal was the only course permissible.

Candidates elected for the spring election at the Salem township caucus held at Camp Lake Saturday afternoon were: Chairman, Arthur Hartnell vs. Arthur Bloss; supervisors, West Salem, Herman Lohr; East Salem, Byron Riggs vs. Nate Dix; clerk, John Evans vs. Benjamin Nelt; assessor, William Evans vs. Andrew Fennema; treasurer, Wm. Wilton, and Dick Moran; and caucus committee, James Pease and Henry Lubano.

Anna Kronke, Kenosha, has started the construction of a three story home in the knolls on the Kronke estate west of the village.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Frank and Frank Zarnstorff attended the basketball game at the Chicago stadium Wednesday night. On the return trip they stopped at Mr. and Mrs. J. Cosmala's in Northbrook.

Mr. and Mrs. Earle Shales and daughters, Woodstock, were dinner guests of Mrs. Leah Pacey Sunday. In the afternoon they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Pacey.

Mr. and Mrs. Kufalk and daughter, Antioch, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Harm.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Harm and Earl Harm and George Deau motored to Burlington Sunday.

Mrs. Clifford Pacey gave a dinner Sunday in honor of her granddaughter, Charlotte Pacey's birthday anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Frank attended the Genoa City Pirates basketball game at Lake Geneva Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Klein and children were in Chicago Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Sutcliffe and son, John, were in Burlington Saturday.

The M. E. Ladies' Aid will meet at the M. E. church Thursday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Luedtke and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Isley, all of Kenosha, were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pella.

The Wilmot Cemetery association met with Mrs. John Ganger Friday afternoon for the annual business meeting and election of officers. Mrs. Frank Burroughs was elected president, Mrs. S. Jedele, vice-president; Mrs. Fred Faulkner, secretary, and Grandma Schmittfeldt, treasurer. Cards will be sent to all those owning lots or graves, announcing the yearly assessment.

Several from Wilmot attended the quarterly conference at the Salem M. E. parsonage Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hugel entertained the Eastern Star chapter at a card party Monday evening.

There was a vanishing tea for the M. E. church at the home of Mrs. Florence Westlake Wednesday afternoon.

Grace and Blanche Carey visited with relatives at McHenry and Elgin Sunday.

Mrs. Gilbert Korkoff, Mrs. Paul Yoss, and Mrs. Lynne Sherman attended a P. T. A. meeting at the office of County Superintendent Hlonfeldt in Kenosha Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lent and daughter, Genoa City, were dinner guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Higgins.

Mr. and Mrs. James P. Sherman, Grayslake, spent Friday with Mr. and Mrs. Ray Buffon.

Mr. and Mrs. Winn Peterson and children, Kenosha, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Reynolds.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kruckman and Dale were in Richmond Sunday.

Ray Buffon is serving on jury duty in Kenosha this week. Mrs. Buffon accompanied him Monday.

There will be English services at the Lutheran church at 10:30 next Sunday.

Word has recently been received here of the death of Joseph Monaghan, an old time resident of Randall township, who died in Mercy hospital at Davenport, Iowa, on the evening of March 2, after an illness of several months duration. He is survived by one brother and two sisters: Charles, of Moline, Ill.; Mrs. J. W. Hartway, Portland, Oregon; and Theresa P. Monaghan, a teacher for many years in Milwaukee. Miss Monaghan resigned her position a year ago to assist in the care of her brother during his long and painful illness. The deceased was laid to rest in St. Mary's cemetery at Moline, Ill.

The annual business meeting and election of officers for the Holy Name congregation was held Sunday morning. Wm. Richter was elected secretary and Fred Fox, Salem, treasurer. John Nelt, Wilmot, the retiring treasurer, who resigned, has served the congregation long and faithfully in this capacity, having held the office for a term of thirty years.

At the same time, the annual meeting of the Holy Name cemetery was held. The cemetery is now incorporated under the laws of the State of Wisconsin with all legal permission for carrying out perpetual care of cemetery lots and graves. This feature is being recognized by the people more and more as being more practical and is, of course, endorsed by state authorities. It was the general sense of the meeting that within the next several years that the cemetery should be operated on a perpetual care basis. Cemetery officers for the ensuing year elected were: President, Thomas Fleuning; vice-president, John Ludwig, secretary and treasurer, Grace M. Carey; and trustees, Ben Nelt and Herman Lohr.

Timely Farm and Garden Topics

By C. L. KUTIL

How to Grow Early Rhubarb

As soon as the red leaf buds appear in the spring, take a sugar or salt barrel and after knocking out the bottom, place the barrel over the rhubarb. Next pile fresh horse manure against the outside of the barrel. The heat from the manure will warm and force the plant to grow. The rhubarb will grow toward the opening on account of the darkness in the barrel, the stalks will be bleached white. You should have rhubarb about two weeks ahead of the main crop.

Cool Season Garden Crops

Some of the garden crops that should be planted as soon as the soil is ready are: Leaf lettuce, garden cress, corn salad, spinach, mustard, radishes, turnips, kohlrabi, rutabagas, garden peas, broad beans, cauliflower, early cabbage, early cauliflower, beets, carrots, onions, and early potatoes. The head lettuce, co. lettuce, cabbage, and cauliflower should be transplanted.

Plant Sweet Peas in Trench

To have sweet peas that will continue to bloom after most of the others have dried up, plant sweet peas in a trench about nine inches deep. Cover the peas with only about an inch of soil, but as the peas grow keep throwing in some dirt next to them or over them until the trench is filled. You now have a sweet pea that will furnish sufficient moisture and food and produce beautiful flowers for a long time. Plant them as soon as you can in the spring.

Give the Lambs Grain

The younger the lambs are grown to marketable size, the more profit they will make. Early gains are the cheapest to produce and bring the most.

Lambs will begin to eat grain when about ten days old. Give them a mixture of cracked corn, crushed barley or oats, bran, and oil meal. Place this in troughs inside of a creep so lambs can get through and old sheep have to stay out. At first give them a little feed to allow them to get used to it. Later, a good healthy lamb can learn to eat from one-half to one pound per day.

15 WORDS THAT TELL YOU MORE ABOUT A REFRIGERATOR THAN 1000 claims

OF THE HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS OF OWNERS

not 1 HAS PAID A CENT FOR SERVICE

That is the amazing record of General Electric Refrigerators—made possible by an exclusive General Electric feature—the hermetically sealed permanently oiled mechanism on top. General Electric mechanism is so tightly sealed that dust and moisture, rust and trouble are forever shut outside.

Cost of operation is cut to but a few cents a day. And of the hundreds of thousands of owners—not one has paid a cent for service.

Think of this when you buy! Come in and see our attractive all-steel models—and let us tell you about our surprisingly easy terms.

Chevrolet announces A NEW SERVICE POLICY

The Chevrolet Motor Company and its nation-wide dealer organization are pleased to announce a new and broader service policy—one of the most liberal ever offered on a low-priced automobile.

Put into force as a written and signed agreement given to the purchaser by the Chevrolet dealer when the car is delivered—it offers the following provisions:

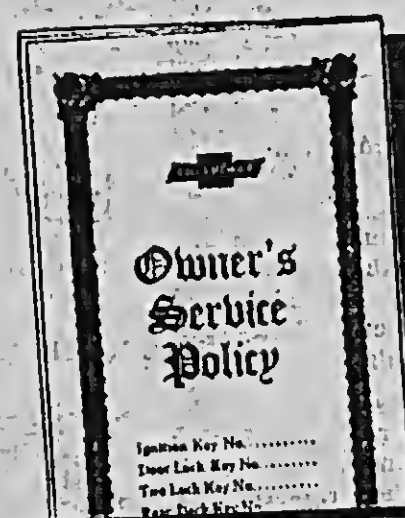

1 Every Chevrolet owner receives his car from the dealer in perfect condition—thoroughly lubricated, properly adjusted, and ready to operate with maximum efficiency from the very first mile of ownership.

2 Every Chevrolet owner is entitled to free inspection and adjustment of his car at the end of the first 500 miles of usage.

3 Every Chevrolet owner is entitled to free inspection of his car every 1000 miles thereafter, so long as the car is in operation.

4 Every Chevrolet owner is entitled to free replacement of any part which may prove defective in workmanship or material, within the terms of Chevrolet's standard warranty. This includes both parts and labor.

5 Provision number 4 will be carried out by any Chevrolet dealer in the United States. As a result, the Chevrolet owner may travel to any part of the country, with assurance that the guarantee on materials and workmanship will remain in force.

This new policy constitutes definite proof of Chevrolet's high quality—for such liberal provisions could only be made in connection with a car built of fine materials to exacting standards of workmanship.

Back of this policy, and assuring its successful operation, is one of the most complete and efficient service organizations in the world.

There are more than 10,000 Authorized Chevrolet Dealer Service Stations in the United States alone. Each employs skilled mechanics thoroughly trained at Chevrolet Service Schools. Each has specially designed tools and machinery developed exclusively for Chevrolet service work. And each has on hand, at all times, an adequate stock of genuine Chevrolet replacement parts.

As a result, Chevrolet's flat-rate charges, including both parts and labor, are the lowest in the industry on many service operations!

In considering the purchase of a low-priced automobile, think what this service means—in terms of lasting satisfaction, as well as in increased economy.

What Members of Popular Organization Are Doing

A wedding of interest to many club members which is scheduled for Friday of this week is that of Miss Earlene Edwards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl W. Edwards, to George L. Lailla, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Lailla. The affair is to be quite informal and is to take place at St. Chrysostom's church on N. Dearborn parkway, the Rev. Dr. Keeler officiating. The bride will be gowned in a powder blue crepe de chine dress, and her only attendant, Miss Frances Lailla, sister of the groom, will wear pink crepe de chine. Palmer Jones, assistant manager of the Knickerbocker hotel, will serve the groom as best man, and Richard Varner and George Bauer will act as ushers. The management of the Hotel Knickerbocker is giving a reception following the ceremony. The young couple will be at home to their friends after April 1st at 1260 N. Dearborn parkway. Many parties are being given for the prospective bride and groom, and Mr. and Mrs. Lailla are giving a dinner and card party for the two families and the bridal party on Wednesday evening, March 19.

Do not forget the dinner-dance on the 29th, which is being planned by the entertainment committee. Early reservations would greatly assist the committee in its final arrangements. It is hoped that every member will attend this annual get-together party and make his reservations at once.

Do not delay. If there are any friends who might also enjoy such an occasion, send their names and addresses to Henry Paulson, 2724 Park place, Evanston.

There will be a barn dance at Dietz Stables, Evanston, Tuesday, March 25. W. L. S. National Barn Dance orchestra will furnish the music. Refreshments will be served.

Her Majesty The Modern Woman

IT'S a far cry back hundreds of years ago when woman was considered a chattel and endured the hardships of slavery and serfdom. Nor is there a more encouraging development for the future welfare of humanity than the continual evolution and development of woman. Through the ages we have heard of Woman's Sphere, and, with the passing of the years, this sphere has been a constantly enlarging one until today the Woman's Sphere practically encompasses the entire realm of activities that were formerly to be found only in the man's world.

Her majesty, the modern woman, stands on a basis of equality with man and is found in the front ranks as the leader in some of our most progressive movements. She is the mainstay of the three greatest factors in community life: the Home, the Church, and the School. While man is still the major breadwinner, yet one-fifth of all persons, gainfully occupied, are girls and women. So well have they served modern industry, business and professional life could ill afford to do without them.

The greatest contribution that woman makes to America and to the community is in her role as wife and mother. She cares for the children, keeping constant watch over them and guiding them through their infancy and adolescence. She keeps the home, that great sanctuary of American life, and fosters the best interests of family life. Woman has much more to do with the Standard of living in the Home and for the family than does the man.

Although men are in the majority as wage earners, two-thirds of the family income is spent by women.

These expenditures are made in practically every field of activity. Today she is the chief customer of business. For example, women buy 78% of the pianos; 49% of men's socks; 81% of the groceries; 82% of department store merchandise; 98% of the silks; 78% of the drugs; 80% of the jewelry. An odd list, picked at random, but typical of the important part played by women in our modern world.

By intelligent and careful expenditure, women are making a vast contribution to the furthering of thrift and saving in American life—and to them we look for the upholding of the Community ideals of

Wreck of the Sackem

There were black looks from the men as they cut away the wreckage of the main-topmast and curses on their lips lost nothing in vehemence for being muted by the gale. Fellowes, remote on the poop, missed none of the discontent, although he seemed to have eyes only for the hurricane astern, and the rocky coast that filled the horizon to starboard. He held himself very erect, his slight, wiry frame tensed with energy, his hard-etched, young face frowning bleakly. Old Henderson, his first mate, standing beside him, nodded toward the frigate's close-reefed tops' lifting nearer about the combers.

"It's bad luck, sir. We'll go ashore if they hit the other side."

"They won't follow us in much closer," Fellowes answered shortly. "There's a port called Faro we ought to open any moment. I know where we are. That's Algarve, in southern Portugal."

He scanned the viscous pall that draped the sky behind the frigate. An onshore gale, that was the crowning affliction! Everything had gone wrong since they spoke the Salem letter-of-marque of the Cape Verde, and heard Madison had declared war—baffling winds, suspicious cruisers, the storm that had driven them east into the Gulf of Cadiz. And now, this full-spread, yellow frigate!

A cold rage possessed Fellowes; his blue eyes, bluer for the tan of cheek bones and brow, sparkled tellingly. He reviewed the long voyage to Canton, the patience with which he had assembled a choice cargo, certain to pay big profits.

Was he to see that cargo put up at auction by a British prize court? See the Sackem that he had grained and cherished lovingly sold off at Portsmouth for British registry? He'd die first, he told himself. And his jaw set squarely as a tongue of flame and a roundshot whined overhead in the rigging.

"Get in closer," croaked the first mate. "And we're pretty nigh there, too."

"I see it, Mr. Henderson," Fellowes assented crisply. "And once for all, I'll not strike. The frigate doesn't follow us much, farther—she draws twice what we do."

"Aye, aye, sir," muttered the first mate, but his tone was one of dissent. Fellowes' fists clenched tight under the skirts of his watch-coat. Give him a few hours of darkness, and he'd contrive to slip free of his trap, beat past the bilged frigate, perhaps torn and steer east again for Cadiz—he could, at a pinch, find a market for his cargo with the Spanish merchants. Not profit, trade was a secondary consideration. The main thing was to outface the arrogance of British power, show that America could keep the seas.

The frigate, undeterred by the immolence of a dangerous coast, continued on her course a pilot or two nearer the wind than the Sackem's. Suddenly, in her bows, glowed two little jets of flame for eyes. The whippy boom of Long Toms rumbled down the wind. And the deck of the Sackem trembled under Fellowes. There was a crackling and rending of timbers, but he looked in vain for signs of damage, until he saw the helmsman clutching at the madly spinning wheel.

"She don't answer, Cap'n! She don't answer," babbled the man.

Overhead spars banged and canvas slatted as the brig braced to; the foretopmast went by the board with a crash in a welter of tangled rigging. And in the midst of the confusion, Fellowes heard himself saying calmly:

"The rudder's shot away. You'd best get forward, my man."

"I knowed 'twould happen," cried the first mate. "She'll be on them rocks in a jiffy. The sooner we lower the boats, the surer we'll be o' saving the crew."

"There'll be time," snapped Fellowes. "Her head's swinging into the wind. The foretopmast will serve as a sea-anchorage while it holds."

"Mr. Henderson, will you lower the quarterboats?" And he called down to the crew: "Smurty, men! I'm sorry you're going into captivity. Any who prefer to stay with me I'll do what I can for."

"Ain't you comin' sir?" exclaimed Henderson.

"I was brought up in England," Fellowes answered dryly. "I don't hanker for their prisons."

"But them rocks—"

"I'll risk it. My luck is due for a turn. Now, then, look alive, all of you! No small gear, men. Just as you are."

They obeyed him mechanically, officers and men alike demoralized by the rapidity with which disaster had overtaken them.

Presently old Henderson rolled aft, and hailed him respectfully:

"Better come along of us, Cap'n; she's a gunner."

"I'd rather chance the rocks than Dartmoor," Fellowes rejoined, with a smile. "Make no mistake. You'd no wiser to stay with me—go for a privateersman after we reach home."

he saluted clumsily, and clambered over the bulwarks. A moment later, the small boats cast off, and pulled away. Fellowes was relieved when the frigate held on her course to pick them up. At least he had the satisfaction of knowing he wasn't responsible for any deaths. And he told himself, surveying the battered bulk of brig, that he'd done all that was possible to save her.

But she was a goner, as old Henderson had said. Drifting steadily on shore, he dropped off the poop into the green pool of the waist, and slushed through the companionway of his cabin, where he discarded watch-coat and sea-boots, and buckled on a belt containing his scanty funds. He had barely regulated the deck when a wave demolished the clutter of wreckage that moored the brig's bow.

Fellowes was half-suffocated by the cascades of emerald water that breached the bulwarks, but he fought his way forward, and succeeded in lashing himself to the windlass. He had his parting view of the frigate, lying to, the Sackem's boats under her counter. Ahead, a saw-toothed ledge of rocks dripped blackly in a hollow between two waves, and he pulled the slip-knot of his lashings, bracing himself for the shock. It came with a jarring and rending of timbers, a mighty din of waters. Then he was scatched off the deck, hurled up—and up—and up. He must swim, he realized, but at once he began to sink. Down—down—down! A drumming in his ears, eyes smarting, lungs oppressed. But he must fight on. He must show these Englishmen—

Fellowes was aroused by fingers prodding at his garments. A hairy face glared greedily into his; a curved knife flashed in the gusty light of torches, playing lazily about a ring of other hairy faces, bestial and cruel.

The man, shuffling the knife wrenching at his smacking neckcloth. Easy to imagine what would happen next. He braced himself for the lick of the steel—and a woman's voice belled in the shadows, high and clear. The hairy faces recoiled; the knife was hidden. The woman spoke briefly again.

The torches blazed nearer, straw torches, tightly braided and dipped in resin. Across the area of plecthy beach, he saw distinctly the three people who approached him: two women, one slim and willowy, despite the cloak that enveloped her, the other enormous in girth, panting and wheezing as she waddled along, and with them a cowering priest.

The slim woman stooped over Fellowes, and he looked up into a pair of velvet brown eyes, deep and compassionate, set in a lovely, oval face. "Poor soul," she exclaimed in English, innocent of accent. "We saw your misfortune from the castle. But why did you remain on your ship?"

"I don't strike," he whispered.

A shadow nuzzled her olive features.

"All the world at war, and America must thrust her infant into the melee! But we'll not talk politics, sir. I'll have you carried to Padre Antonio's."

In this day of checking accounts, ante-deposit vaults, wall safes, burglary insurance, of pursers on steamships and clerks in hotels who safeguard our valuables for us, it is difficult even to imagine what must have been the anxiety in the days when every woman had to look after her treasures for herself.

And yet even our grandmothers can sometimes tell us of the way they hid their jewelry deep within the feathers of the bed, of hiding their money in clinks of the wall or sewing it in the wide hems of their skirts. And the secret drawers and slides and cubbyholes that we find in interesting old pieces of furniture bear witness to the Four of the hairy peasants, very anney and deferential now, lifted the Amerleu upon their shoulders, and tramped off at a fast gait up a winding path in a vent of the cliffs. But Fellowes knew little of that climb, for the rough handling tortured his battered frame, and most of the way he was unconscious.

When he came to, he was lying in a huge, canopied bed, warm and drowsy. His wet clothes had been removed, and liniment applied to his ribs and bruises. Moving tentatively under his covers, feet rustled among the rushes, and the girl of the mantilla appeared beside him, no longer ebullient, her figure showing to advantage in a gown of wooden stuff as brown as her eyes. At her elbow was the enormous woman, who had attended her on the beach, a creature so stout as to seem a caricature.

The girl dropped a hand on Fellowes' forehead.

"Ah, your fever is going," she said approvingly. "You'll do well, sir."

"Thanks to you," he murmured.

"No, not thanks to yourself—and such aid as we could render."

"I'd have had—knife in throat—but for you," he insisted.

"We won't speak of that. Our peasants, alas, are little better than savages. But there is something I must say to you, sir. I am obliged to leave this place, Ferreña, in the morning. There is no one here who speaks English. So, if you will tell me your wishes, I will explain them to Padre Antonio. He has the money-belt you wore, and will return it at your pleasure."

"Where do you go?" asked Fellowes.

"To Lisbon." She caught her lip in her teeth, as if regretful of the statement. "If you will be advised, sir," she hastened on, "you will journey into Spain. The British control all northern Portugal, and their authorities in Lisbon will not be partial to a shipwrecked American."

He hesitated.

"I think I'll try Lisbon."

"As you choose." She was almost brightly. "But you will require rest and refreshment in the meantime. The Padre understands."

"Now you must sleep, sir."

"But I haven't thanked you! And I want—"

"Tis late, and I rise with the sun. Good-night, sir—God fetch you safe home."

She was gone. And fretful as he was, a power stronger than his will pushed shut his linden eyelids. He awoke to a stamping and shouting in the street below. Aloud of the rescuer's departure, he managed to stumble out of bed, and hobble to a window. His curiosity was rewarded. A stately coach, six stalwart Andalusian mules hitched to the pole, stood at the priest's door, that functionary, himself, in the act of ushering the two women into it.

The girl leaned from the coach window to give some parting message, and called to the coachman perched high on his box. The ponderous vehicle swung off, the mules' hoofs clacking daintily. Fellowes, more weary than he had reckoned, was content to crawl back to bed. He must discover who she was, he told himself, yielding to sleep again.

He was awakened by the priest tapping his shoulder, proffering a cup of chocolate.

The chocolate put new strength in him, spurred him to inquire the girl's identity. But he could make nothing of the Padre's Portuguese, the Padre looked blank at his English, and the most Fellowes could gather was that a certain Donna Clara was a great lady, a good lady, it somewhat unis out in her conduct. He supposed the girl to be Donna Clara, but he wasn't by any means sure of it. All he could be assured of was that she had gone to Lisbon. Very well, he'd go there. And the third day of his stay he announced his intention. The Padre seemed disturbed, but after considerable debate, he shrugged his shoulders, produced Fellowes' money-belt and a hairy-faced named Rojias, who looked like a bandit and passed for a mulatto.

The fourth day Fellowes rode forth of the village. At the top of the narrow street, he halted to look back for the last time. His eyes were up on the rocks where the Sackem had gone to her doom, a doom so complete that the only vestige remaining of the brig were scattered bits of wreckage lodged in inaccessible crannies of the cliffs.

Clever Hiding Places for Family Treasures

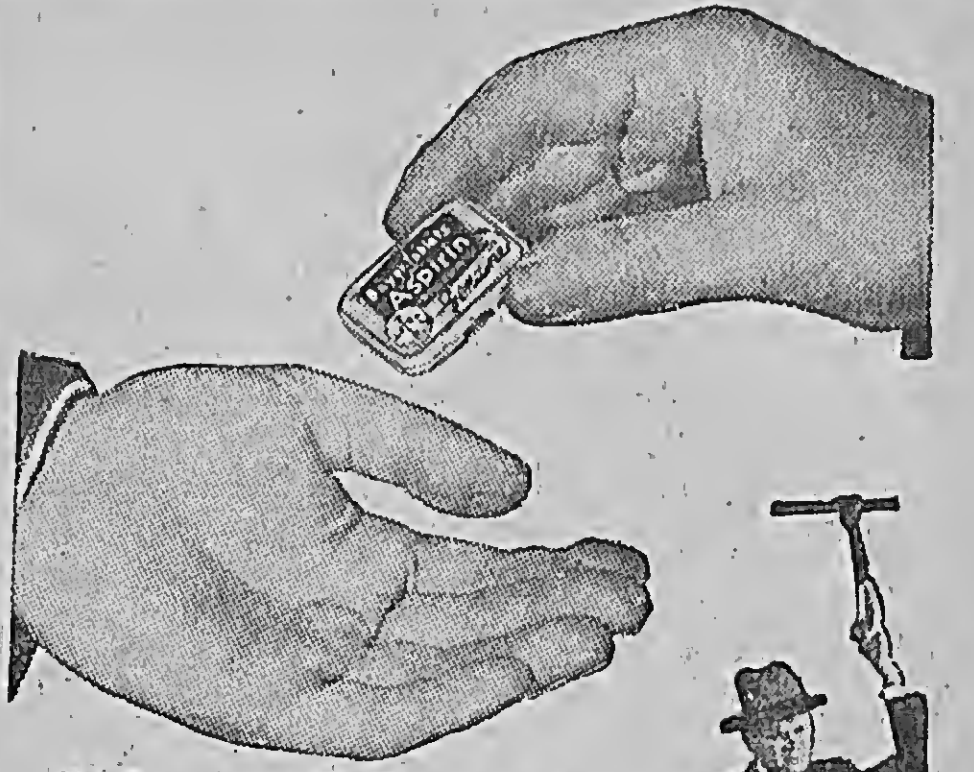

In this day of checking accounts, ante-deposit vaults, wall safes, burglary insurance, of pursers on steamships and clerks in hotels who safeguard our valuables for us, it is difficult even to imagine what must have been the anxiety in the days when every woman had to look after her treasures for herself.

And yet even our grandmothers can sometimes tell us of the way they hid their jewelry deep within the feathers of the bed, of hiding their money in clinks of the wall or sewing it in the wide hems of their skirts. And the secret drawers and slides and cubbyholes that we find in interesting old pieces of furniture bear witness to the fact that women of former generations have had a far less easy time of it to hide their treasures than we.

In the bureau, desks and other pieces of furniture made by the master cabinetmakers of the Eighteenth century in France and England, much time and skill were used in making these secret hide-away places—the location of which and method of opening was often kept a deep secret between the maker of the piece and the owner.

Needless Pain!

Don't be a martyr to unnecessary pain. Lots of suffering is, indeed, quite needless. Headaches, for example. They come without warning, but one can always be prepared. Bayer Aspirin tablets bring immediate relief. Keep a bottle at the office. Carry the small tin in your pocket. Then you won't have to hunt a drugstore, or wait till you get home.

And don't think Bayer Aspirin is only good for headaches, sore throats, and colds! Read the proven directions for relieving neuralgia, neuritis, rheumatic, and other aches and pains. Remembering, of course, that the quick comfort from these tablets is not a cure; for any continued pain, see a doctor.

Bayer Aspirin is genuine. Protect yourself by looking for that name. Always the same. Always safe. Never hurts the heart.

YOU HAVE A DOCTOR'S WORD FOR THIS LAXATIVE

In 1875, an earnest young man began to practice medicine. As a family doctor, he saw the harm in harsh purgatives for constipation and began to search for something harmless to the sensitive bowels.

Out of his experience was born a famous prescription: He wrote it thousands of times. It proved an ideal laxative for old and young. As people saw how marvelously the most sluggish bowels are started and had breath, headaches, feverishness, nausea, gas, poor appetite, and such disorders are relieved by the prescription, it became necessary to put it up ready for use. Today, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, as it is called, is the world's most popular laxative. It never varies from Dr. Caldwell's original effective and harmless formula. All drugstores have it.

For any BABY

We can never be sure just what makes an infant restless, but the remedy can always be the same. Good old Castoria! There's comfort in every drop of this pure vegetable preparation, and not the slightest harm in its frequent use. As often as Baby has a fretful spell, is feverish, or cries and can't sleep, let Castoria soothe and quiet him. Sometimes it's a touch of colic. Sometimes constipation. Or diarrhea—a condition that should always be checked without delay. Just keep Castoria handy, and give it promptly. Relief will follow very promptly; if it doesn't, you should call a physician.

All through babyhood, Castoria should be a mother's standby; and a wise mother does not change to stronger medicines as the child grows older. Castoria is readily obtained at any drugstore, and the genuine easily identified by the Chas. H. Fletcher signature that appears on every wrapper.

Acidity

The common cause of digestive difficulties is excess acid. Soda cannot alter this condition, and it burns the stomach. Something that will neutralize the acidity is the sensible thing to take. That is why physicians tell the public to use Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

One spoonful of this delightful preparation can neutralize many times its volume in acid. It acts instantly; relief is quick, and very apparent. All gas is dispelled; all sourness is soon gone; the whole system is sweetened. Do try this perfect anti-acid, and remember it is just as good for children, too, and pleasant for them to take.

Any drug store has the genuine, prescriptive product.

THREE INDIAN CITIES

In the Palace of the Mirrors, Lahore.

(Prepared by the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.) The movement toward the independence of India has thrown into prominence three of the pivotal cities of the peninsula. From Delhi, capital of India, the British officials are keeping close watch of developments; in Lahore met the All India Nationalist congress which issued the declaration of independence; and in Calcutta, greatest of the Indian cities, there was recently a huge demonstration in favor of independence.

If one spot were singled out in history-steeped India as most historic of all, probably it would be the city of Delhi, for both written records and oral traditions extending back for ages tell of power wielded from Delhi's site. New Delhi, constructed to be the seat of the Empire of India, has been built on ground where cities have risen and passed away through the centuries, and about which are situated beautiful and striking monuments of one of the world's most powerful empires of the past.

Though legend makes Delhi a place of importance from earliest times, history takes no account of it until about 1050 A. D., when it was the seat of a Hindu ruler. It was captured by Mohammedan invaders from Afghanistan in 1203, and from that time onward was the capital of a Mohammedan Indian empire. Delhi, in the days of the Mohammedan conquest, lay to the south of the present city, and there where the new power was set up, the first Mohammedan ruler, Kutub-ud-din, built in celebration of his conquest a tower of victory, the Kutub Minar, which stands today and has been called "the most perfect tower in the world."

Capital of the Great Moguls. Timur the Lame (Tamerlane), the Tartar scourge of Asia toward the end of the fourteenth century, swooped down from Samarkand in 1398, and sacked Delhi; and in 1526 his then descendant, Babur, took the Tartar hordes again into India, captured the city, and founded the Mogul empire, through the fame of which Delhi is best known to western eyes. In 1638 Shah Jahan, the Augustus of the Mogul emperors, built the present Delhi to the north of the old city and embellished it with mosques and palaces of great beauty.

Because of its rich history as the fountain-head of power in India, Delhi—not Calcutta, which was then the capital—was chosen in 1877 as the site of the Durbar, or gathering of native kings and princes, at which Queen Victoria was proclaimed empress of India. Again in 1903 Delhi was chosen when a Durbar was held to crown King Edward VII emperor, and once more in 1911 when George V assumed that title. On the latter occasion the new emperor announced that this ancient city of emperors would be restored as the capital of India and its 250,000,000 subjects.

The following year the viceroy and his administrative council moved into temporary quarters a few miles north of the city walls of Delhi. It is to the south of the Delhi of recent decades, near the site of the more ancient Delhi, however, that the new permanent capital, planned on an imperial scale, has recently risen. The city has been designed to cover approximately 30,000 acres and to house more than 50,000 people connected with the administration of the imperial government.

To the superficial observer of the work recently in progress it might appear that there have been rising the buildings of a great world exposition. Broad avenues have been laid out and planted with trees. A central feature is an imposing Processional way at the end of which rises the main building of the group, Government house, home of the viceroys of India. It includes guest chambers and spacious state dining rooms, ballrooms and reception halls. On either side of the Processional way are secretariat buildings.

Lahore is the capital of Punjab state, and one of the important crossroads of India. Not many curious travelers are found there, for the city is off the beaten path of tourist travel. Most tourists visit Calcutta and Bombay and perhaps the interior cities between them, but Lahore, lying about 200 miles northwest of Delhi, is a bit out of the way. Yet trains from important southern Indian cities connect with lines to the city; railroads from the foothills of the western Himalaya mountains touch it; there is a line from Lahore to the Afghan border on the north; and from the west come trains from Karachi, popular landing field for Europe-Asian aviators.

Lahore is colorful. It is off the beaten path of tourist travel. Most tourists visit Calcutta and Bombay and perhaps the interior cities between them, but Lahore, lying about 200 miles northwest of Delhi, is a bit out of the way. Yet trains from important southern Indian cities connect with lines to the city; railroads from the foothills of the western Himalaya mountains touch it; there is a line from Lahore to the Afghan border on the north; and from the west come trains from Karachi, popular landing field for Europe-Asian aviators.

Every house has at least one enclosed balcony or bay window and no two adjoining houses seem to have them protruding from the same floor. And no two balconies are the same size. This feature of Lahore house construction, and the further fact that Lahore's early builders apparently gave no thought to an even building line, make the native thoroughfares a jumble of uneven masonry and wood. There are few women on the streets of Lahore but no matter how many windows a house has, nearly all of them frame a woman's face. Some of the women wear shawls, others adorn themselves with trinkets—stone-encrusted disks placed the left sides of their nostrils, beads beaded over the bright waists and beaded necks of the wearers, and earrings dangle from the ear lobes to the shoulders.

At the bazaars, the travelers mingle with a colorful horde who watch crafty merchants drive home sales of hummered metalware and earthen vessels of all shapes and sizes, jewelry, and many other products of local manufacture.

Calcutta Huge and Busy. Calcutta is one of the most progressive cities of the East, with all the modern devices to handle its tremendous commerce and entertain its native and foreign population. In less than 250 years it has become the largest city in India and second only to London in the British empire.

When Job Charnock of the East India company set up a trading station at Kalikata in 1690 the insignificant native village occupied a narrow stretch of dry land on the left bank of the mud-laden Hooghly with fever-infested swamps surrounding it on the three other sides.

Charnock knew the products of the rich Ganges and Brahmaputra valleys could be routed through Kalikata and the swamps would protect his station from unfriendly Indian neighbors, but his wildest imagination, perhaps, did not lead him to vision the Calcutta of the Twentieth century.

Today three important railroads converge at Calcutta. The treacherous shifty channel of the Hooghly is a parade ground for commercial vessels of all sizes, flying flags of the world. Nearly ten miles of modern wharves and warehouses, equipped with all modern devices, receive and export many millions of dollars worth of jute, tea, hides, oil seed, lac, cotton, coal and other products of Bengal and surrounding provinces. And many acres of the old swamp land have been reclaimed, forming beautiful parks and sites for government buildings, and palatial residences of "jute klogs" and "tea kings."

To the traveler who approaches Calcutta by water, its growth is a mystery. At the mouth of the Hooghly the Indigo blue water of the Bay of Bengal turns to a dirty brown. For much of the 80-mile trip mud flats and water-logged forests form the river-side scenery for the commercial craft plying the river. Only the most skilled pilot can steer a vessel up the shifty channel.

Your eyes sparkle, your complexion clears up and the bloom of youth is yours. All druggists. Write to Dr. Pierce's Clinic in Buffalo, N. Y., for confidential medical advice. There is no fee.

"First Aid—Home Remedy Week" Coming The Good Samaritan is pictured as "The First Aid" in the national reminder which has been sent to druggists all over America, announcing the 9th anniversary of "First Aid—Home Remedy Week," fixed for March 16-23.

The idea of an advertising-merchandising one-year drive timed with spring house cleaning was given to the drug world by Sterling Products, Incorporated, in 1922. Preparedness for meeting accident or sudden illness is emphasized as a sensible and reasonable sales plan which serves to alleviate needless suffering and undoubtedly save life.

The National Association of Retail Druggists sponsored this ad-sales plan and later added Pharmacy Week as an autumn festival for intensive advertising and salesmanship in the drug world.

The National Wholesale Druggists Association and the National Association of Drug Clerks have joined the N. A. R. D. in establishing these festivals of selling as Spring and Autumn fixtures for the welfare of humanity.

"Fill That Medicine Chest Now" is the slogan of "First Aid—Home Remedy Week" and has been from the beginning. It was Dr. William E. Wells, himself a graduate from the ranks of retail druggists, who first saw the value of "First Aid—Home Remedy Week" and wherever live-wire druggists have co-operated by showing a window filled with suggestive first aids both for accident or illness, and using their home news-paper advertising space, they have added cheerfully to their March business.
